BAMBO[®] Nature

- the diaper that cares for the environment

- You can now choose a baby diaper providing optimum comfort to your child without compromising your concern for the environmental impact of such products.
- Bambo Nature is the new baby diaper generation labelled with the "Swan" logo - the official environmental labelling in Scandinavia. Bambo Nature has been developed in partnership with parents and is manufactured in our factory in Denmark.
- The diaper features environmentally friendly state-of-the-art raw materials enabling us to produce a slim and comfortable baby diaper without compromising its absorbency.

Some of the strict requirements imposed on baby diapers labelled with the "Swan" are:

- No optical brighteners or perfume
- A maximum limit for production waste created in the manufacturing process is imposed
- A minimum level of renewable raw materials must be used
- No use of moisturising lotion is allowed

Products labelled with the "Swan" must also comply with a number of strict conditions regarding the environmental impact of the product throughout its life cycle, and in addition there are requirements with regard to:

- Quality
- Function
- Security
- Product information
- Recycling

Bambo Nature is available in 5 sizes to suit all ages – from birth until your child naturally achieves full continence

Bambo Nature puts both the interests of your child and the environment as our top priorities

- We have produced a range of baby diapers offering minimum environmental impact combined with maximum freedom of movement and comfort for the child. The breathable backsheets allow air to circulate to the skin, thereby reducing moisture. For the first time, state-of-the-art raw material technology makes it possible for Abena to produce eco-labelled, environmentally friendly baby diapers that are just as slim and comfortable as ordinary baby diapers.
